

The background of the entire cover is a deep space scene. It features a dark blue and black sky filled with numerous small, distant stars. Several larger, more prominent stars are visible, each with a bright white core and a multi-pointed diffraction pattern. In the lower half of the image, a large, dark, curved shape, possibly a planet or a nebula, is partially visible. A brilliant, multi-colored starburst or lens flare emanates from a point on this curve, radiating outwards in many directions with colors ranging from white to yellow, orange, and red. The overall effect is one of vastness and celestial wonder.
